

HGH Revitalizer

1 FL. OZ. BOTTLE

HGH Revitalizer is formulated with a proprietary blend of Amino Acids that act as a precursor to NATURALLY stimulate the release of your own HGH. The word "precursor" can be defined as a substance from which another substance is formed, such as yeast activates the bread to rise.

It is important to not confuse HGH Revitalizer oral spray with synthetic HGH that has been known to cause some adverse effects to the body. HGH Revitalizer oral spray uses Amino Acids that have no known side effects. Also, our spray product utilizes natural Liposomes made of Lecithin to enhance the quick absorption of the Amino Acids into our bodies. These Liposomes have been developed with a time-release action.

Human Growth Hormone (HGH) is an endocrine hormone that declines in production after the age of 21, and can fall as much as 80% from age 21 to 61. Scientists have now ascertained that this decline of HGH in the body is directly responsible for many of the most common signs of aging, such as decreased energy, wrinkling of the skin, gray hair and diminished sexual function.

HGH is produced by the pituitary gland that is located in the back of the brain, and it affects almost every cell and tissue in the body which in turn regenerates your heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, muscles and bones to keep them in their youthful state.

Listed below are some of the Amino Acids contained in HGH Revitalizer and their effectiveness:

- LYSINE is largely attributed with fighting viruses that occur in the body.
- ARGININE increases fat-burning and muscle building. It promotes healing of burns and wounds while detoxifying the body. It also enhances male fertility.
- GABA (Gamma Amino Buteric Acid) is one of the most potent stimulators of HGH-release. This is a substance that occurs naturally in every cell of the body, including the brain.
- GLUTAMINE is a conditional essential Amino Acid that may not always be made by the body in sufficient quantities to fight off stress. Without sufficient levels, nutrients are less well absorbed, and muscles and immunity are also lost.

Some of the many benefits of HGH:

Improved immune function
Increased energy level
Lose fat, increased bone mass
Improved sleep
Improved skin elasticity
Increased memory retention
Improved vision
Regained hair color
Quickened wound healing
Restored sex drive

Anyone who wants to maintain their youthful vigor should include HGH Revitalizer, an all-natural product, manufactured to pharmaceutical standards, as part of their health regimen.
